

Programme change proposals

At York each degree programme has its own, tailored set of distinctive learning outcomes. These won't change, no matter what your location or mode of delivery, and our academics are working hard to ensure your programmes and modules next year continue to inspire and motivate you.

Your health and safety is our number one priority and in light of the Covid-19 pandemic we had to make changes to some of your programmes of study for the coming academic year. This document summarises the changes that are proposed for the first year of our Undergraduate Programmes in Management (BA, BSc).

Summary of Overall Plans - Year 1

Students on these programmes will be invited to engage in learning in a variety of ways, with flexibility built in to allow us to maximise face-to-face teaching in line with any shifts in the government guidance on physical distancing. Lectures will be pre-recorded and put on the VLE, and small group teaching will be offered both in classrooms and online.

We will timetable as many students as we can fit in classroom sessions, giving all students face-to-face opportunities in turn. For the sessions that students do not get a seat , there will be a timetabled online version of the classroom session (attended regularly by those who are not able to attend campus as well as those who might be self-isolating) that will include the same kind of lively interactions and meet the same learning outcomes.

We will be continuing to assess students through a combination of coursework and online exams, and specific assessment plans will be available for each module by the start of the module.

Programme Structures

No structural changes are proposed to Year 1

Further changes or information of note

For programmes which have professional accreditation we are working with the relevant professional bodies to ensure that students will be able to meet accreditation requirements. This may require a small number of time-limited and/or invigilated exams if this is permitted under government guidance.
